

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

VOL XXI.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 1899.

NO. 29

...Zeigler Bros...

SAMPLE LINE

OF

Women's Finest Hand-Turned.

Shoes AND..
Oxfords,

Sizes 3, 3 1-2 and 4.
A, B and C Widths.

JUST IN.

J. H. Anderson & Co.

KEITH BROS'.

Tiger Brand

Hand Made

$ 3.00

ALL COLORS,

FOR SALE
AT

PETREE & CO.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Hopkinsville's Ablest and Oldest Lawyer.

Sick Only a Few Minutes—Cut Down Just After Closing a Great Speech.

Judge Richard Thomas Petree, the oldest lawyer in the city and one of the oldest members of the bar in Western Kentucky, died with startling suddenness Friday afternoon.

He had just finished a long and able speech in an equity cause, appearing for L. H. McKee. He returned about three weeks ago from California looking much improved in health and appeared to be in excellent physical condition.

He was 75 years old March 18 and not being at home that day he celebrated his birthday on April 1 with a dinner to a party of old friends. This entertainment was made very enjoyable by a recital of his impressions of the recent trip to the West.

He was closing up his legal business to retire from practice and the McKee case was intended to be the last he would appear in. He had taken much interest in it and the argument he made was more than two hours long and was a great legal effort and was so regarded by all who heard it.

Upon concluding he complained of feeling exhausted and sat down. A friend procured a stimulant for him and he arose to go to his office, but appeared so feeble that Mr. E. H. Petree assisted him to walk to the office near the Court House and placed him on a sofa. By that time he was so ill that Mr. Petree called Dr. Rodman from the room above. Under the prompt attention given him, Judge Petree rallied and talked to those about him of his sudden attack. He then got much better and was thought to be over the worst when he had a sudden relapse about 4:30 and died in a few minutes.

His body was removed to his home at Mrs. Gholthwaite's and his absent relatives summoned.

The following sketch, prepared by a friend gives the principal points in his long and honorable career.

Judge Petree was born March 18, 1824, in Todd county. His father was Hazel Petree, a prosperous and prominent citizen of that county, and Thomas was one of a family of sixteen children.

He received a liberal education and began the study of the profession which he was afterwards to elevate and adorn, under Capt. F. M. Bristow, father of the late Secretary of the Treasury Benjamin Bristow, who afterward became the law partner of Judge Petree.

He came to Hopkinsville during the latter part of 1869 and began the practice of law. "There were giants in those days" at the local bar and his contemporaries in the early stages of his professional career were such men as Phelps, Gray, McClellan, Stites, Bristow and Hise. The young lawyer soon demonstrated that he could cope successfully with the ablest. He was the peer of the best. In 1851 he was elected County Attorney, serving his full term. In 1854 he was married to Miss Mary Williams Hubbard, who died about fifteen years ago.

In 1862 he was elected Judge of the third Judicial district and filled this exalted position six years. It was at a time when the storms and passions of civil strife were at their height and families were divided against each other. His just, manly and impartial career did much to assuage the bitterness of feeling and calm the tempest that continually rolled about him during this critical time.

"At the expiration of his term he resumed the practice of his profession and took his place at the head of the local bar. From that time to the sad hour of his death he remained "in the harness," enjoying a lucrative practice and the confidence of all men regardless of party affiliation.

He possessed a mind of great depth and analytical power. The puzzling problems of law and equity dissolved in the light of his learning and research like mist before the sun. So even was his temperament and so well poised was his mind that signal victories never elated him and misfortunes never rendered him despondent. In his relations with his professional brethren he was universally courteous and gentle and to the younger members his kindness and sympathy made him stand in the relation of a father. By none will his genial presence and his pleasant welcome be so missed as by those who have been closely associated with him in professional activity."

Judge Petree leaves only one child, Mr. Luther H. Petree. Three daughters, Miss Bettie Petree, Mrs. J. W. Downer and Mrs. P. Burnett, and his oldest son, Mr. Thomas N. Petree, have passed away since their mother died 15 years ago. Mrs. Downer left a little girl and his deceased son left a little boy. These with Lute, as the younger son is called, are all of his descendants who survive him.

Hon. H. G. Petree, of Elkton, is his brother, and he has a large number of other relatives in this county and Todd.

The Bar held a meeting Saturday and passed appropriate resolutions.

In order to give his son time to arrive from Denver, the funeral was not held until yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Dr. Nash, his pastor, preached a feeling and very appropriate sermon, and a large procession of sorrowing friends followed his body to Hopewell cemetery. Judge Petree leaves a very handsome estate.

VERDICT STANDS.

Motion for New Trial Overruled—McRoy Case Dismissed.

The motion for a new trial in the $25,000 damage suit of Robertson's administratrix against the I. C. railroad company, in which a $10,000 verdict was returned against the defendant, was overruled. It will probably be appealed.

The verdict at a former trial of our verdict in the penitentiary returned against Joseph McRoy, on a charge of seducing a female under 21 years of age under promise of marriage, was set aside Friday afternoon and the prosecution dismissed.

This case had been on the docket since early in 1897. At the June term of that year it was tried and resulted in a hung jury. In the following September the case was continued. At the February term '98, McRoy was convicted, but pending a rehearing the matter went over until last September, when a motion to dismiss was made. McRoy having offered to marry the girl. This motion was overruled by the court. The motion was renewed at the last term and sustained, thus ending the prosecution. McRoy has been out on bond the most of the time.

UNION COUNTY PRIMARY.

John Bell Nominated For Senator
And G. T. Berry For Representative.

Morganfield, Ky., April 8.—The Democratic primary here to-day resulted as follows: Five precincts gave John Bell, for State Senator, a majority of 307; G. Talbott Berry, for representative, a majority of 271. This insures the election of Bell and Berry, as the precincts to hear from will add to rather than decrease the majorities given. The vote in the county was very light. The defeated candidates are George A. Prentiss, for Senator, and B. P. Saunders, the incumbent, from Union, for representative.

Judge Thos. P. Cook, accompanied by his wife and little son, returned to Murray Saturday.

M'CHORD WINS.

Hard Fought Contest In The Second District.

Sensational Bribery Expose Kills
Alexander Too Dead
to Skin.

Frankfort, Ky., April 8.—Charley McChord was nominated for Railroad Commissioner this morning on the first ballot, after one of the hardest fought battles in the history of Kentucky politics.

The credentials committee was out all day considering the contests from Louisville and Franklin county. A report was not brought in until nearly 11 o'clock to-night and then McChord won such a signal victory that it was practically all over but the shouting. The McChord delegates from the Fifty-first district were seated by vote of the convention, although the Alexander delegates from that district were permitted to vote on their own case.

Alexander declined to allow his name to go before the convention. His friends voted for Nelson.

First ballot:—McChord, 259½; Nelson, 128½; Pilcher, 28.

Pilcher was withdrawn and Jason Sammons voted for McChord before the result of the ballot could be announced. McChord addressed the convention.

The temporary organization was made permanent and resolutions endorsing the Chicago platform and Bayan for President in 1900 were adopted.

The sensation of the convention was sprung shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Garnett Graves, of Taylor county, came into the convention hall and laid $400 on the chairman's table, which he said Charley Somers paid him to give his proxy to an Alexander man and leave town.

The candidates spoke to the delegates until Garnett Graves came in and made his sensational exposure of Somers and laid down the money. Fifty game men accompanied Graves to the Convention hall and stood behind him on the stage, from which he spoke. He gave a circumstantial account of how Somers commenced working on him last midnight. He went and woke up McChord's managers at once and they told him to trap Somers. It was finally agreed between them that Somers was to pay the money at 2:45, he to sign a proxy authorizing Ben Smith, an Alexander man from Putaski, to cast the vote for his (Taylor) county, he being the only delegate from Taylor and instructed for McChord. It was further agreed that they were to leave together on the 3 o'clock train.

McChord spiedes watched the entire transaction. Eddy Lillard and another game man went to the train also and engaged Somers in conversation while the train was pulling out, and Graves slipped off, ran to McChord's headquarters in the Capital hotel and counted out the money to McChord's friends. They then took him to the convention and the exposure followed as stated.

OPINIONS DIFFER.

Some Think the Saunders Children Died From Poison.

It is claimed by some that the deaths of the two children of W. J. Saunders near Guthrie were not caused by spotted fever, but that they died from the effects of having chewed poison oak, which they found at the wood pile. The third child affected is still very low, with little hopes of recovery. The rest of Mr. Saunders' children are in good health and the public school at Bates, which was closed on account of the meningitis scare, has resumed.

Died of Dropsy.

Margaret McRoy, col., died of dropsy last Thursday night at her home in Gordonsville, aged 65 years.

JUST NOTICE

Our People's Feet

and see if you can find any that look nicer or more comfortable than those encased in a pair of our $3, 3.50 and 4.00 Shoes, in Tans, Vicis and Tans, Black Vicis, Patent Leather; all the different styles toes and lasts.

When Tan Shoes were first introduced not one well dressed man in one hundred could be found wearing them. Now but few in a hundred wear any other kind. Thus it is plain to be seen that fashions in men's apparel do change, and often radically.

THE REVOLUTION

witnessed in footwear is being repeated by collars. The Colored Collars are now the very top notch of style and they come in with a rush. We carry a good assortment of the latest things.

We are showing the best $3.00 self conforming Stiff Hat in town.

J. T. WALL & CO.

(Successors to Mammoth Clothing & Shoe Co.)

CAPTURE OF MANILA.

Gen. Greene Writes of the Days Which Preceded It.

How the American Soldiers Were Fed and Housed in the Rainy Season—Health Maintained by Strict Discipline.

In the first of two papers on "The Capture of Manila," Gen. Greene describes in the Century the difficulties under which he labored in keeping his brigade in good condition for the assault upon the city.

Gen. Anderson came over from Cavite and accompanied me on one of my reconnaissances, and two plans of attack were discussed. One was to bring our artillery over the road through rice swamps to the hill at San Pedro Macati. Here would have a commanding fire on the Spanish lines east of the city, which were weakest at this point; and Gen. Anderson favored making the principal attack from this direction. This, however, would take us away from the beach on the shore, and we had no transports, except a few insignificant native carts. It would take us away from any direct communication with the navy, whose 157 pieces of artillery, large and small, operating on the flank of the Spanish lines, would, in my judgment, more than counterbalance the disadvantage of attacking the strongest part of the Spanish position. Well, of course, I was ready to carry out any plan that my orders directed. Gen. Anderson might give me, I expressed very strongly my opposition to his plan of moving away from close touch with the navy, and he declined to give any orders pending Gen. Merritt's arrival.

Meanwhile, the men made themselves as comfortable as possible in camp. They had nothing but shelter-tents and one meal a day, and the men were in infinite variety, from a passing shower to an all-day-and-all-night storm, with a cool wind and rain falling at the rate of from four to six inches a day. Immediate steps were taken to get the men off the ground by building beds of split bamboo set on posts from 18 to 24 inches above the ground. On top of this the shelter-tent was perched; and when the rain was through the thin cloth of the shelter-tent was twined in at the ends by wind, so that we were never dry in camp; yet the 24 days we remained in this camp, yet they did not sleep on the wet ground.

GEN. FRANCIS V. GREENE.
The New York Officer Who Captured the City of Manila.

I had caused every bottle of wine and liquor to be removed from all the ships the day before we sailed from San Francisco, so that the officers and men landed with their systems absolutely free from alcohol for 32 days. The water for drinking was obtained by drawing from wells sunk a few feet deep on the edge of the camp. It was abundant in quantity and apparently of good quality, but, as a precaution, every drop of it used for cooking or drinking was boiled. This was done in spite of the greatest difficulties, as fire wood was extremely scarce, the bamboo poles and green reeds which made up the camp not being combustible. The company cook had a disengaging task. To be awaked at 3:30 in the morning, in the midst of a drenching rain, at times with three or four inches of water over almost the entire camp site, and told to light a fire, and not only to make coffee and fry bacon, but to boil water for 100 men, was to receive an almost impossible task. Yet, with the care and with the greatest cheerfulness, the health of the men under these adverse conditions and extraordinary hardships was surprisingly good—so good that it was hard to account for it. The sickness was seldom as high as three percent, during all the time we were in this camp, and none of the sickness was of a serious character. Freedom from alcohol, sleeping above the ground and body temperature apparently the cause of good health, we should be added the sun-shine and enthusiasm of the men, confident that in a short time they would take Manila, and proud that they were to have part in the success of an important event.

Travel of a Waller.

A dancing master at Gardebo, Mr. Mc-
Kee, has calculated the distance a waltz travels during the course of one evening at seven miles. He says that, allowing six feet for one waltz step, and the waltz tempo 60 measures a minute, and taking three steps to the measure gives 180 steps in a minute. Giving 10 minutes for each waltz, and 30 waltzes in an evening, the waltzer has covered a distance of seven miles in waltzes alone during the evening.

Increase of Tank Steamers.

Though the first tank steamer was built only 13 years ago, there are now 150 tank vessels in existence, nearly all steamers, with a register of 401,024 tons.

FAITHFUL TO BILL.

How a Little Samoan Boy Tried to Find an American Sailor Who Was His Friend.

"Amatua's Sailor," in Mr. Lloyd Osborne's story in St. Nicholas, is an American sailor named Bill, and this is the way the young native boy Amatua tried to find him after the great storm at Apia, Samoa, in 1888.

When he came back from Germany he found a band playing in front of Mr. Moore's store, and noticed stories about the place, and important-looking officers, with swords and pistols. He was told that the admiral was upstairs, and that Mr. Moore's house was now the headquarters of the American forces. A great relief settled upon Amatua's heart. If there was one earth but that he could find Bill, it would be him. Amatua, a single man, was nibbling a pen as he stared at the paper before him. It reminded Amatua of the pastor's school. Half a dozen officers stood grouped in one corner, who were whispering to one another, their hands resting on their swords. It was all as quiet as church, and nothing could be heard but the scratch of pens as they worked at their desks. Suddenly a frowning officer noticed Amatua at the door. "Order," he cried, "drive away that boy; and Amatua was ignominiously driven out of the room.

Mr. Rhodes has submitted his map to GREAT TRUNK ROAD.

Cecil Rhodes Plans a Wonderful Transportation System.

Famous South African Speculator Would Connect Cape Town and Cairo by a British-Egyptian Railway Line.

Mr. Cecil Rhodes, known throughout the civilized world as a speculator of stupendous ideas, has again indulged in a sort of day dream. He has sprung on the British and South African publics many startling schemes, some of which, as his bank account would doubtless show, have been surprisingly successful. He now comes to the front, however, with a project so bold and so far removed from the ordinary that it has not even been mentioned in the papers. It is the first time that any fox terrier was submitted for professional examination on what was supposed to be an abscess in the side. The surgeon, however, decided that a foreign body was present, and nothing could, of course, be done without the merciful aid of chloroform, for it is both interesting and gratifying to know that the animal's painful operation is never attempted on a place temporally beyond the reach of pain. The results of this operation disclosed the presence of a wooden meat skewer in the terrier's stomach, with the point projecting between its ribs. The obstacle was successfully removed, and to-day the tiny pet was as frisky as ever it could be.

It is attributed to some cats that they show an intercessive inclination for wine corks, and frequently swallow them. Others swallow needles, which gradually work out through their skin, and there is a case on record of an omnivorous goat that swallowed a packet of small needles, and for some months afterward, owing to its porcupine exterior, was a terror to the small boys who attempted to take a seat on its back.

Pet white mice, guinea pigs, tame rabbits and hedgehogs are also included in the veterinary surgeon's patients.

Most of their ailments are, however, medical troubles, and their complaints are little different to those of their youthful owners, in whose eyes, however, the invalid's state is a momentous matter.

Mr. Rhodes has submitted his map to the British public, and even now coaxes the British parliament to aid him in his project. The government has already been instrumental in furthering the extension of the Ondurman line to the Sobat river, while it is under its own steam pressure that the line to Bulawayo is being pushed forward so rapidly. There is little doubt that in the end royal maintenance will be extended to the Cape of Good Hope, and the line of extension is most congenial to British ideas of progress, as the majority lies entirely within British or Egyptian territory, and could not fall, when the time of its prosperity should have come, to more than amply repay its projectors.

As shown on the map, the bed runs along the Nile for many hundred miles; seemingly an obstacle to an obstructive scheme. The river is yet almost undeveloped and no coal districts in the Zambezi and British Central African are to form one of the sources of revenue, while the theory that in the next 50 years Africa is certain to double her population is expected to keep the stock at par. Engineers will doubtless watch the progress of the scheme with interest, as the roads are to be of an appreciable portion of the world's surface, and even the most sanguine expectations of Mr. Rhodes himself, however, it will be some months yet before the bonds are on the market. But if the road is operated within 10 years, in view of Mr. Stanley's experiences but two decades before, it will be marvelous in the extreme. The world goes rapidly in these times. Africa took 300 years to wake up. Africa, being a much "warmer" land, may take but 30.

Made the Lawyer Wine.

This is a lawyer's story of his first trial, in which a farmer accused a neighbor of shooting his ducks. The lawyer was employed by the accused to convince the jury that such was not the case, and that the only possible conclusion was that of the ducks charged, because he had seen his ducks in the defendant's yard. "How do you know they were your ducks?" asked the lawyer. "I should know my ducks anyway," replied the farmer, giving a description of their various peculiarities whereby he could distinguish them. "Pshaw!" said the lawyer, "these ducks can be of any breed. I have seen some just like them in my own yard." "That is not at all unlikely," admitted the farmer, "for they are not the only ducks I have had stolen lately."

No man ever did a designed injury to another but at the same time he did a greater to himself.

PAN-AFRICAN RAILROAD.

(Map Showing Route of Cecil Rhodes' Pet Scheme.)

steady pressure that the line to Bulawayo is being pushed forward so rapidly. There is little doubt that in the end royal maintenance will be extended to the Cape of Good Hope, and the line of extension is most congenial to British ideas of progress, as the majority lies entirely within British or Egyptian territory, and could not fall, when the time of its prosperity should have come, to more than amply repay its projectors.

As shown on the map, the bed runs along the Nile for many hundred miles; seemingly an obstacle to an obstructive scheme. The river is yet almost undeveloped and no coal districts in the Zambezi and British Central African are to form one of the sources of revenue, while the theory that in the next 50 years Africa is certain to double her population is expected to keep the stock at par. Engineers will doubtless watch the progress of the scheme with interest, as the roads are to be of an appreciable portion of the world's surface, and even the most sanguine expectations of Mr. Rhodes himself, however, it will be some months yet before the bonds are on the market. But if the road is operated within 10 years, in view of Mr. Stanley's experiences but two decades before, it will be marvelous in the extreme. The world goes rapidly in these times. Africa took 300 years to wake up. Africa, being a much "warmer" land, may take but 30.

Made the Lawyer Wine.

This is a lawyer's story of his first trial, in which a farmer accused a neighbor of shooting his ducks. The lawyer

was employed by the accused to convince

the jury that such was not the case,

and that the only possible conclusion

was that of the ducks charged, because he had seen his ducks in the defendant's yard. "How do you know they were your ducks?" asked the lawyer. "I should know my ducks anyway," replied the farmer, giving a description of their various peculiarities whereby he could distinguish them. "Pshaw!" said the lawyer, "these ducks can be of any breed. I have seen some just like them in my own yard." "That is not at all unlikely," admitted the farmer, "for they are not the only ducks I have had stolen lately."

No man ever did a designed injury to another but at the same time he did a greater to himself.

President as Horseman.

The president is a good horseman, and he attracted the admiring attention of the natives and tourists on the street by the masterly manner in which he controlled his horse, to and the skill with which he guided his cutter through fashionable K street one day recently. The sleigh ride of the president and Mrs. McKinley was the greatest surprise to fashionable Washington, for not since the days of Grant, a correspondent says, has the Capital city seen a president driving his cutter through the streets in an apparent enjoyment of doing what is almost universally left to the coachmen in the city of fashion and reserve.

EAT STRANGE THINGS.

Gastronomic Feats of Goats and Ostriches Outdone by Kittens, Puppies and Other Pets.

A recent operation for the removal of over six inches of hatpin from the neck of a kitten is not altogether without precedent. A reporter, in the course of some brief interviews with several leading veterinary surgeons, heard of many graphic accidents that befell domestic pets, and of how science has on many occasions given painless and complete relief.

"Kitties and puppies, and cats and dogs, it was stated, are frequent sufferers from a lack of discrimination in swallowing things never intended for consumption. Hatpins, meat skewers, knitting needles and ordinary needles, pins, needles, and the like, have been known to be swallowed. Only recently a tiny fox terrier was submitted for professional examination on what was supposed to be an abscess in the side. The surgeon, however, decided that a foreign body was present, and nothing could, of course, be done without the merciful aid of chloroform, for it is both interesting and gratifying to know that the animal's painful operation is never attempted on a place temporally beyond the reach of pain. The results of this operation disclosed the presence of a wooden meat skewer in the terrier's stomach, with the point projecting between its ribs. The obstacle was successfully removed, and to-day the tiny pet was as frisky as ever it could be.

"As past experiments have shown, the scheme is not altogether chimerical. Part of the proposed system is already in action, and styled the 'Mombasa' line.

It runs through what but a score of years ago was for a white man the most unhealthy country in the world, missionary teas and kindred civilities being in vogue. This line now does a paying business. Besides this, in various parts of the continent, and stretching in a general direction from north to south, there are 2,333 miles of profitable lines in operation. Considerable, however, is the map of Mr. Rhodes, even if this road does not profit itself for the first ten years. It cannot fail to be amply profitable in the end, seems quite plausible.

Mr. Rhodes has submitted his map to the British public, and even now coaxes the British parliament to aid him in his project. The government has already been instrumental in furthering the extension of the Ondurman line to the Sobat river, while it is under its own steam pressure that the line to Bulawayo is being pushed forward so rapidly. There is little doubt that in the end royal maintenance will be extended to the Cape of Good Hope, and the line of extension is most congenial to British ideas of progress, as the majority lies entirely within British or Egyptian territory, and could not fall, when the time of its prosperity should have come, to more than amply repay its projectors.

As shown on the map, the bed runs

along the Nile for many hundred miles; seemingly an obstacle to an obstructive scheme. The river is yet almost undeveloped and no coal districts in the Zambezi and British Central African are to form one of the sources of revenue, while the theory that in the next 50 years Africa is certain to double her population is expected to keep the stock at par. Engineers will doubtless watch the progress of the scheme with interest, as the roads are to be of an appreciable portion of the world's surface, and even the most sanguine expectations of Mr. Rhodes himself, however, it will be some months yet before the bonds are on the market. But if the road is operated within 10 years, in view of Mr. Stanley's experiences but two decades before, it will be marvelous in the extreme. The world goes rapidly in these times. Africa took 300 years to wake up. Africa, being a much "warmer" land, may take but 30.

Made the Lawyer Wine.

This is a lawyer's story of his first

trial, in which a farmer accused a neighbor of shooting his ducks. The lawyer

was employed by the accused to convince

the jury that such was not the case,

and that the only possible conclusion

was that of the ducks charged, because he had seen his ducks in the defendant's yard. "How do you know they were your ducks?" asked the lawyer. "I should know my ducks anyway," replied the farmer, giving a description of their various peculiarities whereby he could distinguish them. "Pshaw!" said the lawyer, "these ducks can be of any breed. I have seen some just like them in my own yard." "That is not at all unlikely," admitted the farmer, "for they are not the only ducks I have had stolen lately."

No man ever did a designed injury to another but at the same time he did a greater to himself.

STRAPPED TO A BOARD.

That is the Way in Which Indiana Babies are Fastened and Carried Around.

Of all the contrivances used for chairs and cradles for babies the queerest are to be found among the native tribes of North and South America and Africa. There are no such rocking cradles or dainty cradles to be found among them as our own. The Indian papoos are a board to which the infant is strapped and hung on the bough of a tree or over its mother's shoulder.

In South America and in some parts of Africa reeds are used. They are woven together and then brought along together at the ends, forming the stretcher.

As shown on the map, the bed runs along the Nile for many hundred miles; seemingly an obstacle to an obstructive scheme. The river is yet almost undeveloped and no coal districts in the Zambezi and British Central African are to form one of the sources of revenue, while the theory that in the next 50 years Africa is certain to double her population is expected to keep the stock at par. Engineers will doubtless watch the progress of the scheme with interest, as the roads are to be of an appreciable portion of the world's surface, and even the most sanguine expectations of Mr. Rhodes himself, however, it will be some months yet before the bonds are on the market. But if the road is operated within 10 years, in view of Mr. Stanley's experiences but two decades before, it will be marvelous in the extreme. The world goes rapidly in these times. Africa took 300 years to wake up. Africa, being a much "warmer" land, may take but 30.

Made the Lawyer Wine.

This is a lawyer's story of his first

trial, in which a farmer accused a neighbor of shooting his ducks. The lawyer

was employed by the accused to convince

the jury that such was not the case,

and that the only possible conclusion

was that of the ducks charged, because he had seen his ducks in the defendant's yard. "How do you know they were your ducks?" asked the lawyer. "I should know my ducks anyway," replied the farmer, giving a description of their various peculiarities whereby he could distinguish them. "Pshaw!" said the lawyer, "these ducks can be of any breed. I have seen some just like them in my own yard." "That is not at all unlikely," admitted the farmer, "for they are not the only ducks I have had stolen lately."

No man ever did a designed injury to another but at the same time he did a greater to himself.

INDIAN CHILD'S CRADLE.

letter "U." The infant is wrapped in cloth and placed in a sitting position in this contrivance. He is then securely fastened by means of cords, which prevent him from falling out. He spends the greater part of his early life thus housed.

When not being carried about the country, or while his parents are at work the chair (if it can be called such) is fastened to the trunk of a tree, which gives a back rest to the affair.

With the cradle the infant has the free use of his legs, but his arms are securely fastened under the cloth around which the cords pass.

Boys on a Novel Hunt.

The sea devil, ray or devil fish, whatever you please to call it, is an occasional visitor to Galveston bay. Four times a year it comes rapidly and leaves the bay—most of them being 10 years of age—started on a novel hunt with a rowboat, a harpoon and a Winchester rifle. The boys roared around, and pulling up within 40 feet of one of the monsters, fired a shot which sent the ray flying ahead at a terrific speed. Fortunately it swam in a circle, and more fortunately, it did not run fast.

The boys then cut the harpoon free and as it floated on the surface of the water the boys threw the harpoon into the mass and towed it to the wharf.

Then they made a little money by exhibiting it at "five cents a look."

The Ills of Children.

Dr. Hartman offers his advice to parents on the treatment of coughs and colds.

EARN.

Nearly all the ills of children begin with taking cold. If your child catches cold don't wait a moment before attacking that cold.

To the ignorance or neglect of parents is due the fatal termination of many children's complaints.

If you are not informed as to the proper course to pursue to drive off a child's cold, write to Dr. Hartman, president of the Sectional Health Council, Columbus, O., for advice, and get some of his free books which contain the most pertinent facts about colds and all catarrhal diseases.

Pe-ru-na, Dr. Hartman's great prescription, is wholly vegetable. It wards off colds entirely if taken at the beginning in proper doses. It breaks up settled colds quickly. It is scientific and safe; there is no mystery about it. Dr. Hartman's book tells just how it acts and why. All druggists sell it.

Mrs. Rogers, Elgin, Ill., says: Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR:—"Your medicine saved my baby's life. We stopped all treatment but yours, and now he is a beautiful boy. It was certainly a miracle."

Mrs. Becking, East Toledo, writes to the Pe-ru-na Medicine Co.:

DEAR SIR:—"Pe-ru-na is the best medicine I have had in my house. My children had a cold, and one of them had the lung fever. I cured them all with Pe-ru-na."

Proper knowledge of the treatment of coughs and colds is of the first importance to parents. This knowledge is offered free. All catarrhal diseases succumb to Pe-ru-na.

WEST & LEE

Manufacturers of

Fine Buggies,
Surries,
Carriages,
Phaetons, etc.,

2 GR

Repairing

AND

Repainting

Done in the best style

THOS. S. TURNER,

General Solicitor.

Highest Grades

at Lowest Prices.

We sell all kinds of Carriage, Hardware, Wood work or Trimmings.

We also put in new axles, wheels, tops, curtains, cushions, in fact anything that goes in a buggy or carriage.

If you want a good vehicle for next season,

Give us your order now.

West & Lee,

8th & Virginia Sts.,

MURKINVILLE, KY.

SEND US ONE DOLLAR.

THE ACME QUEEN Novel Beds, which are only used by the rich, are now offered to the public at a price of $100.00 to $150.00, the greatest value never seen. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31 inches. Colors: Diamond, Principal, Sultana, Melinda, Calais, Cypress, Maple, Oak, Pine, Cedar, Mahogany, and others. Price, $100.00 to $150.00. We can furnish them in various colors, and in various styles. Made from Solid Quarter Sawn Oak, 1000 lbs. weight. THE ACME QUEEN is 8 feet 6 inches high, the width, 31

PLANTATION CHILL CURE is Guaranteed.

SOLD BY R. C. HARDWICK, HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

SWEAR TO NEVER WED.

Last of An Eccentric Family of Five Passes Away.

Miss Sarah McCauley, who has just died at the age of eighty-six years, at Hammond, Ind., is the last of an old and eccentric Illinois family of five sisters who, according to the local press, and the gossip of the radio neighbors, promised their mothers on her deathbed more than fifty years ago, that they would never marry, and remained true to that promise. Her death marks the extinction of the McCauley family except several sons and daughters of her late brothers, whose whereabouts are unknown, and her estate, consisting of a rich farm, adjoining Hammond, and some personal property, is unclaimed.

She left it by will to Hobart and John McCauley, sons of her late brothers, Oscar and William Henry, of Greenfield, Pike county, Ill., but for years prior to her death she did not know where to address a letter to either of them, and the executor, Dr. A. E. Currier, has been unable to locate them. The late Lycorus McCauley, of St. Louis, was a prominent and apparently well to do street car man of that city, was also a brother of the five old dames.

The McCauley family originally lived in Maryland, a short drive from Washington, and was in good circumstances.

While the five girls were young the family moved to Greenfield, Pike county, Ill., and after a residence of many years there one of the brothers came to Kansas and bought a 200-acre farm adjoining Hammond, in tending to make it their home. Hedged immediately there after, and twenty-two years ago the sisters and their brother, William Henry, moved upon the ranch. The brother died a few years later, and the sisters devoted to each other and true to the solemn renunciation of marriage which is said to have been required of them for some unknown reason by their dying mother, continued to manage the business of the farm.

Sixteen years ago the two elder sisters, Mary Ann and Louise, died on the same day, and were buried at the same time in the village cemetery. A few years later Elizabeth died, and less than a year ago Sophia expired, leaving "Aunt Sarah" as she was familiarly known, alone. She would have but little company, and could hardly be induced to leave home, but notwithstanding her eccentricities, she was recognized by her neighbors as a woman of education and superior intellect, well informed on all public matters, and a good business woman without. She continued to live alone until her death, a few days ago.

Dr. Currier the executor of her will has reason to believe that it will stand and that the children of her brother Lycorus, may participate in the distribution of the estate.—Chicago Chronicle.

More About Roup.

Cure.—Take the affected form firmly by the legs with the left hand, carry to the wood pile, place neck of fowl carefully across a good solid log. Now seize a good, sharp axe with the right hand, raise a foot or so above your head, and bring down with a heavy blow so that the edge of the axe comes in conjunction with the log, right where the neck of the fowl crosses it.

A. G. Davidson in an article on roup in the American Poultry Journal after commenting at length on this affliction, sums it all up in the above "cure." The fact is, progressive and experienced and honest breeders who have "one axe to grind" have got away from the drug delusion and openly advocate no medicine for fowls. This is a source of great gratification to us, as well of great benefit to poultry culture. Let the reform be universal.—Exchange.

Curing a Chicken Thief.

A resident of Morgan Park, who was recently induced to move to that suburb, longed for a dog. A mastiff was the thing; magnificent, great creature, a splendid protector for his wife against tramps by daylight while he was at work and a guarantor of peace and slumber at night. A friend happening into his office said he had a misfit puppy and a bargain was instantly made. The pup immediately began to establish his popularity. First his owner's family was won by his playful friendliness and then the neighboring community gradually yielded to the way of his tail and the softness of his eyes. But about the time of the advent of Mr. B.'s pup chickens began to disappear. They were found laying about in great numbers and finally self-educated detectives traced the feathers to the kennel of B.'s pup.

Mr. B. was heart-broken, for every one was greatly attached to the dog, and he was reluctant to dispose of him. Yet he could not afford to pay for all the chickens in the thriving suburb. Finally a solution of the difficulty presented itself. Coming home early one afternoon he caught the mischievous maker standing over an old hen. Mr. B. took the hen home, and tying its feet to a strong rope, attached it securely to the dog's collar. Everywhere the puppy went the hen was sure to go, and after three days the dejected countenance of the dog told Mr. B. that a cure had been effected.—Louisville Post.

NEW PHASE OF PALMISTRY.

How the Hand Betrays the Presence of Disease.

The expression of the face and the appearance of the hands are fairly reliable indices of the nature and progress of certain diseases, according to the Medical Record. For instance, a skilled physician can in the majority of cases decide if a patient is a sufferer from Bright's disease by the expression of his countenance and can also by the color, contour and texture of the hand, by the shape and tint of the fingers and nails, diagnose more than one complaint.

For very many years clubbing of the finger ends has been held to be one of the most important signs of consumption, and the condition also appears in several other diseases. Recently Dr. Edward Blaik, of London, has written a work on the study of the hand for indications of local and general disease, in which many instructive and peculiar points in connection with the subject are well brought out.

In the introduction to the book Dr. Blaik makes mention of the fact that on those rare occasions when the aid of the European physician is sought for a female member of any Mohammedan family of distinction the only part of the patient which the doctor is permitted to see is the hand, which is thrust out for that purpose, a small opening in a curtain.

The subject of Dr. Blaik's paper, then, is to answer to the best of his ability the question as to whether it is possible that a fairly respectable diagnosis might be based upon the sight of the hand alone. In the first place, it is shown that the hand is often dry and in paralytic dementia. If the hand is dry and claw-like the possibility of diabetes enters the mind; if hot, dry and emaciated, the hectic of advanced tuberculosis is suggested. When one hand is persistently hot and the other cold the case may be one of subacute anæmia, but it is much more likely to be gout or else lead poisoning.

If the palm is not only hot but also clammy, the causes may be excretions, recent exertion, or hyperidrosis. A cold and dry hand may mean starvation, anaemia, or one of the innumerable forms of vasomotor ataxia. The hand is cold, harsh and swollen in myxoedema. If cold, clammy and tremulous, then hysteria, dyspepsia and certain depressing emotions of the mind present themselves to his

TO TEST POWERS OF PUPILS.

Directors Recommend Physical Examination for School Children.

Authorities on child study, such as Dr. W. O. Krohn, formerly of the state university, and Dr. G. Stanley Hall, of Clark university, have made interesting researches regarding the period of child development, and by means of specially constructed apparatus and in thousands of cases have arrived at certain conclusions which have attracted attention all over the world.

Dr. Krohn, in 1895, after an examination of 32,800 cases of school children, ascertained a definite time in the normal child when the power of physical and mental accomplishment was considerably less than for the years immediately preceding and following. He found that the child of seven fatigues less readily than the child of six, but that the child of eight fatigues more readily than the child of either six or seven. The child of nine fatigues less readily than the child of eight, but has a fatigue limit about equal to a child of seven. After the age of eight the fatigue readiness diminishes until the period of puberty, when there is again a noticeable decrease.

Dr. Christopher, of the Chicago Red Cross, in his work on rheumatism, was much interested in the results of Dr. Krohn's investigations and applied this knowledge to his practice. He found that in several cases children of eight were subject to heart enlargement and accelerated action, and consequent inability to perform work without becoming tired. The period of listlessness sometimes, according to the doctor, continues for two years, and is cause for uneasiness to parents, who find their children losing in desire to work and in ability. Dr. Gilbert, of New Haven, a noted student of child life, also verified the results of Prof. Krohn in his practice. Last September Dr. Christopher proposed a test among school children in Chicago's public schools. Later, when the Von Humboldt school asked for a full complement of gymnastic apparatus, Dr. Christopher objected unless more complete supervision be given to the work, as serious and irreparable injury might be done to young pupils. Physical instructors were accustomed to allow all students to participate in the gymnastics, provided they were free from heart trouble or had no physical deformity which exempted them. As in the cases of young students it is difficult to find whether heart trouble be present, he argued danger from the indiscriminate use of physical apparatus. The instructors, who cannot be expected to be expert enough to diagnose cases of faulty heart action in young students.

It frequently happens," said Dr. Christopher, "that the growth of children varies considerably from the normal standard. Some may shoot beyond the normal height, with consequent loss of strength; others below the normal weight, also with attendant loss of strength. What is true of the physical is, of course, true of the mental, each being interdependent. The test which is proposed is that children be examined as to height, weight and strength, for the purpose of ascertaining the mode of exercise best adapted to the individual case. One of the main instruments to be used is the ergograph, a machine which, for example, shows how rapidly a finger will move and how soon it becomes fatigued as the test progresses. These results are registered upon a revolving drum register known as the kymograph.

"It is proposed to start the test in a couple of schools, and from the results to ascertain whether the work can be extended to others. The two test cases who will do the work will be teachers who from their studies in child life are specially fitted. Schools of all ages are to come within the test, so as to make it comprehensive. At first the tests will be applied to the physical culture work, but unquestionably it will have after-benefits as regards mental work. Von Humboldt, I. C. S., was the first to develop methods of certaining brain fatigue, and his work has been considerably elaborated upon."—Chicago Times-Herald.

The oftener a man fails the more he is addicted to the advice giving habit.

The title often sells the book and invariably catches the American audience.

Speaking of secret-society benefits, the hod-felows are always assisting the masons.

The trouble with the man who knows it all is that he is unable to keep it to himself.

A man follows precedent as long as it benefits him.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Charles Fletcher

A man may know love by heart and yet be unable to define it.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Charles Fletcher

Living by one's wits has been recommended as an anti-fat remedy.

Serious salt rheum and all diseases caused by impure blood are cured by Dr. C. Sarsaparila, which is America's Greatest Medicine.

Lots of mea fall over themselves in striving to get ahead of others. Rheumatism cured.

My wife has used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with great success. I now recommend it as a special remedy for rheumatism and other bone-hold uses for which we have found it valuable. W. J. CULVER, Red Creek, N. Y.

Mr. Ayer is one of the leading merchants of this village and one of the most prominent men in this vicinity.—W. G. PHILPIN, Editor Red Creek Herald. For sale by R. C. Hardwick, Druggist.

A word to the wise may be sufficient, but they seldom get off that easily.

When you become aware that the distress you suffer comes from impure action of the liver and such distressing symptoms as indigestion, jaundice, torpid liver, appear, take Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balsam.

It cures diseases of the liver and kidneys. For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Each good thought of action moves the dark world nearer to the sun.

HAS NATURE WARNED YOU?

Nature herself clad in the early garb of the despondent chord to vibrate to this, the most delightful of all springtime and how do you like it? Have you tried Dr. C. Sarsaparila, the forerunner of Chills, Malaria and Typhoid? It is a most delightful medicine and it is an indication of sickness; avoid this; consult us as our advice costs nothing; Dr. C. Sarsaparila's German Liver Powder. Take following the directions and after two or three days you will feel like a new man. Will feel like the flowers look in the spring. It cures all diseases of the liver in the season when the atmosphere is full of germs; necessary and when your system warns you and sold by

Anderson & Fowler.

When a man sings his own praise he invariably gets the tune too high.

Habitual constipation is the door through which many of the serious ills of the body are admitted. The one and only use of Paicey Ash Balsam will remove this distressing condition. Sold by C. K. Wyly.

A man always thinks appearances are deceitful when they are against him.

In 1888 my wife went East and was attacked with rheumatism. She received no relief until she tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Since that time we have never been without it. We find it gives instant relief in case of burns and scalds and is never failing for all rheumatic and neuralgic pains.

D. C. BRANT, Santa Ynez, Cal. For sale by R. C. Hardwick, Druggist.

A man may not be a hero to his valet, but we don't see what bushy-a hero has with a valet, any way.

If you have contracted rheumatism no matter what form—Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balsam will cure it. This medicine so regulates the kidneys that the disease which causes the disease are removed from the body through the natural channel. For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Although a man and wife are looked upon as one, some wives consider their husbands very small fractions.

DIGEST YOUR FOOD.
Nearly per cent. of all sickness is caused by food not being properly digested, it creates poison in the body which is responsible for almost any disease the human system can sustain. Take Dr. C. Sarsaparila's German Liver Powder and watch the results. Give it the good effects after taking one dose.

Dr. Otto's Spruce Gum Balsam Cures Your Cough. Just the Medicine For Children.

For sale by

Anderson & Fowler.

If it fails to cure go to your merchant

AND GET YOUR MONEY BACK.

We will refund to him. Price 50 cts.

VAN VLEET-MANSFIELD DRUG CO.,

Sole Proprietors. MEMPHIS, TENN.

THE PALACE.

Spring Opening,

March 30th and 31st.

I will have on display the latest styles in Pattern Hats and Bonnets for Spring and Summer. You should not fail to attend this opening.

Mrs. Ada Layne.

AT THE LEADER

You will find everything New and Up-to-date in Hats, Bonnets and Sailors. Flowers and Ribbons.

AT PRICES TO PLEASE YOU.

A beautiful medalion picture given with every $5 purchase. Coupons given until the amount reaches that sum, beginning April 5th.

MME. FLEURETTE LEVY.

A BUSINESS EDUCATION

is absolutely necessary to the young man or young woman who would succeed in life. This being conceded, it is of first importance to get your training at the school that stands in the very front rank—

The Bryant & Stratton Business College, Louisville, Ky.

Book-Keeping, Seven experienced teachers, each one a specialist in his line. Write for a beautiful book giving testimonials from graduates occupying prominent positions all over the United States, it will be mailed to you free.

KENDRICK & RUNYON,

PROPRIETORS OF

Central Tobacco Warehouse

Clarksville, Tennessee.

We solicit the Patronage of All Who Have Tobacco To Sell

Free Storage to Shippers.

Cash Advances Made on Consignments

J. C. KENDRICK, SALESMAN

NAT GAITHER JAS. WEST

GAITHER & WEST,

TOBACCO & COMMISSION & MERCHANTS,

HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

Liberal advances made on Tobacco. Four months' storage Free

W. G. WHEELER.

W. H. FAXON.

Wheeler & Faxon,

Tobacco Warehousemen, Commission Merchants & Grain Dealers.

Fire Proof Warehouse, COR. RUSSELLVILLE AND R. R. STS.

Hopkinsville, Ky.

Liberal Advance on Consignments. All Tobacco sent us covered by Insurance.

SHIP YOUR TOBACCO TO

RAGSDALE-COOPER & CO.,

MAIN STREET TOBACCO WAREHOUSE,

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

R. E. COOPER. Salesman.

M. F. SHRYER

F. C. HANBURY.

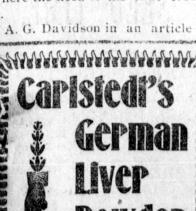

PEOPLES' WAREHOUSE

HANBURY & SHRYER, Prop's.

Railroad St., Between Tenth and Eleventh.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

Great attention given to sampling and selling all tobacco consigned to us. Liberal advances on tobacco in store. All tobacco insured unless otherwise instructed.

CURES INDIGESTION

The entering wedge for nearly all Diseases the human system is heir to.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

For Sale by

Anderson & Fowler.

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Published Tuesday and Friday Morning

CHAS. M. MEACHAM.

8th Subscription $2 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

Local reading notices 20 cents per line.
Special local & state line each insertion.
Rates for state & advertisements furnished upon application.

OFFICES 212 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 1899.—

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Railroad Commissioner,
J. FLETCHER DEMPSEY, of Hopkins County.

And so Charlie Sommers belongs to the 400.

Sometimes even the smartest men violate the eleventh commandment.

The Taylor county quotation is so high that it is liable to pull the Louisville market in June.

Charlie Carman, who killed Ed
Long, at Mayfield, has surrendered to the authorities.

New York reports another fire horror. Thirteen lives were lost in an incendiary fire started by a discharged servant.

Jim Tarvin is right in the push with his Vice-Presidential boom.
He is one of the orators at Oliver
Belmont's Dollar Dinner next week.

A new candidate for Attorney General has entered the race for the Democratic nomination, in the person of Neopolitan Bonaparte Hays, of Pineville.

Charlie Sommers denies the bribery charge, but the fact that the grand jury returned a vote of thanks to his accuser, looks like Charlie was up against it.

The Louisville Dispatch is now published from its own office and though reduced in size the typographical appearance of the paper has been greatly improved.

The speakers announced for the Chicago platform dinner in New York April 19 include William J.
Bryan, Supreme Court Justice Gaynor,
George Fred Williams, Chas.
A. Towne, J. P. Tarvin and John F. Crosby.

The remains of Col. Smith, of the First Tennessee infantry, and of three other officers killed in the fighting around Manila, reached San Francisco Friday on the transport Scandia. Sixty-four discharged soldiers were also brought home.

Stephen J. Field, retired Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, died at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening.
Justice Field was one of the most prominent men in the United States, having sat on the supreme bench nearly thirty-five years. He was 83 years old. He retired last December.

Gen. Hardin's friends in Christian county—and they are numerous—claim that he can carry the county without taking a position for the election reform bill, but it cannot be denied that he will lose many votes by his refusal to take a stand upon this vital question. He says he will uphold the law until the law-makers repeal it; but some law-makers are not Democrats and some Democrats are not too loyal to party principles.

The work on remodeling the Courier-Journal building, which has been in progress several months, has been so nearly completed that the composing room, editorial rooms and other departments, formerly on the fifth floor, have been moved to the first and second floors. The editorial and reporter rooms are now located immediately above the composing room. The composing room is situated on the first floor immediately back of the Courier-Journal and Times counting rooms, running in an L from Fourth street to Green street. The upper floors will be used for office purposes.

More Postoffices.

Two more postoffices have been established in Todd county. One is Poe, with M. W. Poe as postmaster, and the other is Sneed's with John Sneed as postmaster. They are situated in the Northern part of the county, a few miles west of Alleg-gry. Mail twice a week.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Only Routine Matters of Business

Attended to.

The City Council held its usual meeting Friday night and received the monthly reports, made appropriations and transacted routine business.

The report of Treasurer Crenshaw for the month ending March 31 showed receipts to the amount of $1,567.85 and disbursements to the amount of $2,469.92.

The report of City Judge Leavell
was as follows:

Total amount fines imposed, $452, collected on old fines, $45 50; due city by chief police, $158; Judges cost, $23; outstanding, $87; worked out, $184.

The usual monthly accounts were closed.

City Engineer Twyman was appointed to provide a place to take carcasses out of the city limits and imperious to purchase property for the purpose. An appropriation of $283.04 was made to keep the colored school going another month.

Messrs Dalton and Wall were appointed to confer with the Fiscal Court relative to a pest house to be owned jointly by the city and county.

Geo. W. Thacker was elected to fill a vacancy in the fire company.

Peek Dee Items.

Peek Dee, April 5.—As it has been some time since we have seen anything from our little town, I will allow myself to write a few items.

Mr. Robert Shelton, of Gracey, visited this place Sunday.

We have a very interesting spring school at this place now.

The teacher is Miss Gertrude Crenshaw and I think they all like her real well. Mrs. B. B. Nance, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Meacham, at Gray-creek, returned home yesterday.

We are sorry to know that Mrs.
Robert Carter, near this place, has been very sick for some time, but hope she will soon recover.

The farmers are very glad to see this beautiful spring weather; but most of them have done any plowing.

There is a very nice store being built at this place. We think that Mr. James Wootton will take possession of it when he returns from the army.

Miss Cornelia Redd, of your city,
was on a visit to Miss Mary Dyer
Saturday and Sunday.

Many of the men around here are having fine sport at catching fish,
I think they have caught a great many.

I guess I have told all the news,
so I will close for this time.

EUREKA.

AT A STANDSTILL.

Farmers Further Behind With Their Work Than Ever Known.

Farm work is at a standstill over the county on account of the wetness of the ground and farmers report that they are further behind than ever in the history of the county. It now looks like May will be here before they can get their crops planted. This would give them very little time to prepare tobacco land before wheat harvest will be upon them. At best it will be an unusually busy season for the planters during the next five or six months.

Still Quite Feeble.

Mrs. Jones, wife of Mr. John W.
Jones, of Oak Grove, who went to Guthrie in January to recuperate, is still quite feeble. She hopes,
however, to be able to return home in a few days. She is suffering from spinal trouble.

How's This.

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Cataract that cannot be cured by Hall's Cataract Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co. Props.,
Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known
F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and are personally acquainted with all business transactions, and faculty able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TECAS, Wholesale Druggists,
Toledo, O. WALDING, KINNAN & MAR-VIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's family Pills are the best.

ISLAND OF PANAY.

"Only the First Step is Difficult."

The first step in Spring should be to cleanse Nature's house from Winter's accumulations. Hood's Sarsaparilla does this work easily. It is America's Greatest Spring
Medicine. It purifies the blood, as millions of people say.

It makes the weak strong, as nervous and weakly people testify. It cures all blood diseases, as thousands of voluntary patients. It is just the medicine for you, as you will gladly say after you have given it a fair trial.

Bad Blood—Although past 70 years of age I am thoroughly well. It was three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla that made me so after spending over $60 in medical attendance. My trouble was a raw sore on the left side of the neck. LOUISA MASON, Court Street, Lowell, Mass.

Running Sores—After worrying four years I gave my children Hood's Pills and the running sores Hood's Pills cured me of dyspepsis and constipation." MRS. KATE E. THOMAS, 31 Court Street, Lowell, Mass.

Consumptive Cough—Five years ago I had a consumptive cough which reduced me to a skeleton. Was advised to take Hood's Pills and I did. I have been recovering normal health. I have been well ever since." MATILDA BRIDGEWATER, Corporal and Chestnut Sts., Jeffersonville, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liverills, the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

SPECIAL LOCALS.

Good Whiskey is both doctor and tonic. Better looking than many doctors, better tasting than all medicines. For general family use, nothing equals whiskey and HARPER Whiskey is pre-eminently the family whiskey. Sold by W. R. LONG,
Hopkinsville, Ky.

Going to Take a Trip Soon?

We are headquarters for trunks and valises, got anything you want in these goods from the cheapest to the finest. Prices are right—goods are right.

The HOPKINSVILLE MERCANTILE CO.

New Insurance Firm.

The undersigned have secured the agency of first class fire insurance companies, and are prepared to write anyone desired. The senior member of the firm has had large experience as an underwriter, and any business entrusted to us will be carefully attended to. The patronage of the insuring public is earnestly solicited. W. P. WINFREE, Jr.

Our Clothes Fit

But that ain't all, when you get a suit from us, you not only get a fit, but you get value received for your money; it matters not whether it is a $450 suit, or one of our finest text ures.

The HOPKINSVILLE MERCANTILE CO.

Want a Good Pant Cheap?

Come and see our line of them
Jeans Pants at 65c, 75c, $1.00. Cassimers as low as $1.25, good and stout, well made, and will wear you like buckskin.

The HOPKINSVILLE MERCANTILE CO.

New Dressmaking Establishment

Miss Mittie Dowell, who recently opened up a dressmaking establishment in a suite of rooms over Mrs.
Layne's millinery store, has secured the services of Miss Mary McClellan, and the lady has arrived. All work guaranteed strictly up-to-date. The ladies invited to call. Don't forget the place—over Mrs. Layne's.

Bro Bentley Surprised.

When Rev. D. E. Bentley went to one of his Trigg county churches a short time ago, the members of the church had arranged a pleasant surprise for him, and the surprise was in the shape of a present, and the present was a fine buggy and saddle horse.

—Crittenden Press.

A Texas Wonder.

Hall's Great Discovery.
One small bottle of Hall's Great Discovery will rid children of diseases, remove gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame back, rheumatism and all regularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder trouble in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two months' treatment and will cure any case above

E. W. HALL,
Sales manufacturer, P. O. box 218, Waco, Texas.

For sale by T. D. Armistead, Hopkinsville, Ky.

READ THIS.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 17, 1899.
I have for years been a sufferer from kidney and bladder troubles; I have tried all remedies that I could find, and had almost given up all hope of ever getting relief, until I tried Hall's Great Discovery, an old family remedy, and it has cured me of all my trouble.

G. W. WILLIAMS,
Asst. Chief Police.

An Event of Glove Selling

That will make it a Memorial Date.

We are proud of the fact that this store has always had the reputation of selling the best Kid Gloves and in order to still further strengthen this belief in the minds of our people, we

Reduce the price of the well known
La Rome Glove from $1.75 to 1.50, and the Paragone and the Toyoni from $1.25 to 1.00.

The merit shown in the make, the style, the shades and in the whole general appearance of these gloves is so apparent that the casual observer, as well as those who are most expert in detecting flaws, is compelled to see and acknowledge their perfection. Come. See. Compare.

GANT & SLAYDEN.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Never Disappoints

Hopkinsville Grocery Co.

(SUCCESSORS TO J. R. REEVES.)

Dealers in Everything to Eat.

FREE DELIVERY.

No. 204 South Main Street.

TELEPHONE NO. 11.

CHAMPION BINDERS AND MOWERS.

Binders Twine, Parry Buggies, Surreys and Phaetons, Old Hickory Wagons, Fertilizers, Barbed and Smooth Wire, Plows, Disc Harrows and Cultivators, Advance Threshers and Engines, Clover, Grass and Oat Seeds. Our stock of Harness and Saddles is complete.

Yours to please,

6th St. NEAR COURT HOUSE.

CUS YOUNG.

A MODERN PARLOR

shows great progress in the manufacture of fine furniture in recent years. We keep in stock all the latest styles and artistic designs in furniture for parlor, library, bed room, dining room and office, and our store is replete with beauty in all the latest and best designs in fine furniture, or the cheaper grades, to suit all tastes and purses.

KITCHEN & WALLER,
301 South Main Street,
Hopkinsville, Ky.

Farm and Location for Physician.

Having determined to locate in the South, I offer for sale my farm situated in Casky, Ky., on the L. & N.
R.R., five miles from Hopkinsville, Clover seed, Red Top, Oranges, with an abundance of water for all purposes, buildings all new and conveniently arranged, land in high toads and all kinds of Garden Seed, Stock Peas, &c. The land is large lots at our big Market House. We will sell to suit all tastes and purses.

For sale by T. D. Armistead, Hopkinsville, Ky.

SEED TIME.

Mrs. Thos. N. Petree and little son, Gunther, of Owensboro, arrived Sunday to be present at Judge Petree's funeral.

Da. G. G. MOSELEY,
Casky, Ky.

Wholesale and Retail
GROCERS.

E. B. CLARK & CO.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of Infants and Children.

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Props of Old Dr. SPENCER PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed - 1
Lamb's Ears - 1
Reddest Saff - 1
Amar. Saff - 1
All Cinnamon - 1
Horn - 1
Cinnamon - 1
Underwood's Patent

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Exact Sample Signature of Cast. H. Fletcher
NEW YORK.

16 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Cast. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought. CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

DAGG & RICHARDS
BUILDERS,
CONTRACTORS, AND DEALERS IN Building Materials
of All Kinds.
LUMBER, LIM & C. M. M.

Give us a call when you need anything in our line.

DAGG & RICHARDS,
HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

ESTABLISHED IN 1852.

SAMUEL HODGSON,
Importer and Manufacturer of Marble and Granite Monuments.

TABLETS, ETC.
CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE.

MR. F. M. WHITLOW, of Hopkinsville, Ky., is my solicitor

SEASON OF 1899.

To Our Friends: Another season of seed time is fast approaching, and the wise and prudent farmer will again use the old and hitherto known JONES' BRANDS OF BONE AND ANIMAL MATTER FERTILIZERS, that have for many years done their full duty when applied to both Spring and Fall crops. The use of commercial Fertilizers is a most universal, and the experience of many years has proven conclusively that ANIMAL MATTER FERTILIZERS are the most complete plant food known, and the fact of using JONES' ACID-PHOSPHATE ROCK in a bag and branding it "DIS-SOLVED BONE" is a great advantage. The cost of Animal Matter Fertilizers cost more than rock guano, because they are worth more, and we ask that you remember this fact. Our bags go out under our guarantee analysis and this guarantee is good. We offer our goods on their merits, and refer with great satisfaction to their most excellent reputation in all parts of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky, where they are extensively used. We respectfully urge you to give the celebrated Jones Fertilizing Co.'s goods a trial on both Spring and Fall crops, and we know satisfactory results and future orders will certainly follow.

A. S. WHITE, Agent, HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

Office with Braxham & Sheets, 21a Street, fronting N. Layne's livery stable.

Nick Arnold's Daring

"BOYS, I'll give anyone of you $50 if you'll start that jam."

No one answered, while the boss paged back and forth, on the shore, and looked belligerently from the rough, hardy workmen, who had come from the timber through which the water seethed and foamed at the head of the jam, where the lumber lay piled many tiers deep and extended upstream for a considerable distance.

On ahead the water foamed and tumbled in its mad course through Jackson falls, a river driver, was not familiar with the names of lumber-pads that rendered river driving more than usually hazardous at that point.

The drive of a million and a half feet of lumber had progressed down the swollen stream very rapidly so far. The men had worked with a will, and everything had gone smoothly as far as Jackson falls.

The leader of the gang, though a fair streamer, and had neglected the usual precautions, had staggered into the head of the falls, and rigging wing jams to keep the logs from drifting as they came down the stream.

"How be ye goin' to do it without gettin' drowned?" asked a weather-beaten old stream driver, after going out and taking a careful survey of the situation. "We've done all we could, except choppin' off a big spruce that holds the hull thing. We've got some good white water men"—a term applied to the most resourceful and skillful drivers—"ya can find in Maine, but there hasn't none of 'em goin' to risk their necks too far."

"If I was a younger man I'd do it," replied the boss.

"If you'd 'a' done as I told ye," rejoined the grizzled old veteran, "there wouldn't be 'a' been no trouble."

"Yes, I know," said Mr. Hall, the boss, impatiently, "but I didn't, and we've got to make the best of it. I'll make a hundred. Every day counts now. The water will fail soon, and I want to get this lumber down."

Some of the men walked out on the jam and looked at the log that acted as a key. It would be a very easy thing to cut that log and set the mass at liberty, but how would the one that did it regain the shore?

The men knew that the instant the log was severed there would be a mad dash forward, rolling and tumbling over each other as they rushed through the boiling waters of Jackson falls. No live man could keep his feet upon the whirling, rolling logs, and once down among them, nothing but death in its most terrible form could ensue.

Or by one they came back, shaking their heads.

"If there was a ghost of a chance," said one athletic young fellow, leaping upon his pony, "I'd try it. I've cut a log through some mighty tough places, but I dare not tackle this."

"Well," said the boss, moodily, "I don't see what we're goin' to do. We'll have to get some horses and warp a lot of the logs together with tackle and fail. It'll spoil two or three days, and every hour's precious."

"How much did you say you'd give, Mr. Hall?" questioned a boyish voice at the elbow of the boss.

The latter turned. The voice was that of Nick Arnold, the "cooker," or cook's assistant, who had just come into the stream with the men's lunch in a couple of baskets slung upon a necktie.

Mr. Hall laughed.

"Do you want to try it, Nick? I'm afraid you wouldn't do, when these old hands are afraid to undertake it."

"How much did you say you'd give?" persisted the boy, a hardy specimen of the early backwoodsman, apparently about 12 years old.

"I'll give a hundred dollars."

"I'll do it for that," said Nick, confidently, setting his basket of food down, while more than a score of men laughed in derision.

The boy ran nimbly over the compact body of logs, looked keenly at one which held the jam and at the intervening space between himself and the shore, and then sprang forward.

"It's a hard-lookin' place," said his usually merry face, wearing a rather subdued expression, "but I'm goin' to earn that hundred. Honest, I am?" he added, looking steadily at his employer's face.

"Oh, I'll pay the money fast enough," replied Mr. Hall; "but I can't consent to your risking it."

"Let's tackle the grub," said one of the men, an inveterate which was immediately complied with.

And this disturbed the food, which rapidly disappeared.

"If I get drowned in starting the jam and it goes all right, will you pay the money to mother?" asked the boy, while the men were eating.

"Of course, but I can't consent to your risking it."

"Let's tackle the grub," said one of the men, an inveterate which was immediately complied with.

And this disturbed the food, which rapidly disappeared.

"If I get drowned in starting the jam and it goes all right, will you pay the money to mother?" asked the boy, while the men were eating.

"Of course, but I can't consent to your risking it."

"Would you let him try it?" queried the boss, turning to the boy.

"Do you think he'd stand any show?"

"Well," responded one of them, pausing in his efforts to demolish an immense meal, "I guess he'd stand a good chance, but I don't know if he's got the nerve to do it."

And so Mr. Hall yielded to the boy's determination to undertake the job.

He sent a brother to the head of the stream to do what they could in the venture, and the lad should fail to regain the shore and be carried down with the logs, and Nick Arnold, grasping an ax, stepped bravely out to the front of the drive, to win the promised hundred dollars—an almost fabulous sum in his eyes.

Once he seemed to falter, and Mr. Hall called to him to return, but the roar of the water drowned all other sounds, as he moved forward, and stepped down upon the huge log, jammed squarely across the falls. It hung there, held by the men in their efforts to break the jam.

Nick stood upon the submerged log, which was bending with the immense weight bearing against it, and looked down the long stretch of rushing water, from which the men were anxiously watching him, and sawing the ax quickly to his hand.

Those on the bank saw the bright ax glitter in the April sunshine, saw the long, light hair of the boy dancing in the wind, as he went forward to give force to his blows. Then a report like a cannon boomed above the rush of the water, and the logs gradually crushed together, as they started suddenly forward.

"There she hauls!" shouted one of the men.

But where was Nick? The sudden crash of the breaking log, and the instantaneous movement of the jam, had startled the expectant men to such a degree that they had failed to notice the movements of the boy.

"He's gone, sure," muttered one of the men, his bronze face blanched to a grimy white. "We'll never know better'd let him try it."

But the logs were moving splendently. They rolled over and over each other, as they hurried by. Now and then one of them would be forced up among the huge rocks that lined the shore, only to be snapped asunder like pipe stems as by the irresistible mass swept by. Would they find the mangy remains of little Nick Arnold? or would he be ground to atoms in this terrible mill?

STEPPED BOLDLY OUT.

Mr. Hall walked down along the "totepath," beside the stream. The jam was broken, but at what a fearful cost. The boy had been cut in two, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot of the rapids and saw a group of men on the shore, and a boy, the son of one of them, a lad of 12, who had been with his father, but this death could be held directly to himself. Slowly he made his way along the rough path, clambering over windfalls and boulders, upon the brave boy's fate and the mother's sorrow, when he learned the sad news. After awhile he reached the foot

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Weather.

Louisville, Ky., April 10.—(Special)—Fair to-night and Tuesday. Warmer to-night.

HERE AND THERE.

Come to see us. The Grand Leader.

Han sacks, all sizes, for sale at this office.

Forbes & Bro. are busy moving into their new building this week.

—Dr. E. N. Fruitt, Dentist, office over City Bank, Hopkinsville, Ky.

This is the latest spring ever known in this latitude.

WANTED—Everybody to call on us.—THE GRAND LEADER.

Now is the time to take your bams, Sacks for sale at this office.

—Some nice family horses, drivers and roadsters for sale at Layne's stable.

Make our acquaintance. It will pay you.—THE GRAND LEADER.

Two registered prescripitionists at Anderson & Fowler's and prescriptiions compounded day or night.

Mrs. Lucy Ellis is preparing to begin her new house on South Main without delay.

Opening of The Grand Leader Saturday, April 15th.

When wanting a nice package of chocolates and bon bons call at Anderson & Fowler's and get the Plows, the best on market.

The interior of the Phelps residence on South Main is being remodeled and improved.

For fresh home-made chocolate Bon Bons call at P. J. Breslin's Candy Kitchen, Ninth St.

Miss Addie Bell Hardin will entertain the Carroms Club at Mr. J. H. Anderson's to-night.

I am now in charge of R. C. Hardwick's prescription department, where I will be glad to meet all my old friends and customers. L. P. MILLER

15 branch stores enables The Grand Leader, the New Dry Goods, Shoe and Clothing store to make close prices. They buy in Jobbers' quantities.

Mr. Lee Hood, the popular clerk at Hotel Latham, is very sick at Metropolis, Ill., his old home. He is suffering from rheumatism.

Mr. J. T. Hargrove, who has been with L. L. Elgin for several months, can now be found with the popular drug house of Anderson & Fowler, where he will be glad to have his friends call.

Everything in Gravé & Condy's jewelry stock, can rising watches, diamonds, cut glass, chinaware, clocks, jewelry, brooches, solid and plated silverware, umbrellas, etc., at cost by order of the assignee.

Look out and don't get swindled. If you want good wigs and first class feed of every variety for your stock, call on H. G. Wood, between 4th and 5th St. N., Main St. Phoebe 243.

The L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets to Louisville at one fare May 15th and 16, final limit May 22nd, account Travelers' Protective Association convention.

J. M. Adams, Agent.

Mrs. M. H. Wood, widow of the late Dr. Ben S. Wood, has conveyed to her daughter, Mrs. Sallie Warfield, one-half interest in the Irvin farm and other lands adjoining, near Montgomery, Trigg county.

The partitions in the second story of the KENTUCKY building have been removed, throwing the job and composing departments into one long room, 85 feet in length. This change was made to secure more light and room.

The Second District Colored Teachers' Association was in session at the colored school building Friday and Saturday. Addresses were delivered by R. N. Lander, T. N. Richardson, J. P. Jetton, C. Monroe, J. T. Whitney, H. S. Saunders, and W. H. McRiley.

Account Southern Baptist Convention the L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets to Louisville, Ky., at one fare May 8th to 12, limit returning fifteen days from date, with provision for extension to leave Louisville not later than June 10th, by depositing with Joint Agent prior to May 18th and payment of fee of fifty cents. J. M. Adams, Agent.

PERSONAL Gossip.

Mr. T. L. Gant has returned from Elkhorn.

Mr. J. S. Hanberry, of Greenville, spent Saturday in the city.

Miss Francis Barr is visiting Logan county relatives.

Mrs. W. F. Meacham is visiting homes near Russellville.

Mr. Luther H. Petree reached home from Denver Sunday night. Several local tobacco men attended county court at Elkhorn yesterday.

Commonwealth's Attorney W. R. Howell went to Murray Sunday afternoon.

Mr. E. D. Moseley, of Dorel, Ky., spent with relatives Sunday in the city.

Miss Mabel Sothull, of Pee Dee, is spending a week with relatives in the city.

Mr. Oscar G. Hille, Sr., of Nashville, is visiting the family of Mr. G. A. Hille, on Jesup avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. Boardman, of Clarksville, spent Sunday with Mrs. Boardman's mother in this city.

Mrs. Fannie K. Roach, of Evansville, Ind., spent Sunday with her son, Keene Roach, who is attending the High school here.

Miss Susie White returned Sunday to her home in Cadiz, after a visit of two weeks to friends here and at Pembroke.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eggleton have returned from Hot Springs, Ark., after a sojourn of a month. Mr. Eggleton's health was much improved.

Mrs. Ella Wood, wife of the late James R. Wood, and her little daughter, Evelyn, have gone to Albemarle county, Va., where they will make their future home with Mrs. Wood's parents.

CONVICT WEEPS.

Like a Child, When Parting With Its Mother.

Deputies John Boyd and L. E. Barnes delivered George Pool and Roy Boales, both colored, to the prison authorities at Eddyville Friday morning. Boales will serve ten years for highway robbery, and Pool two years for breaking into the I. C. depot at Gracey.

A Princeton Pool's mother saw her son, and when she told him good-bye he broke down completely and wept like a child.

THRIFTY HOMESEEKERS.

L. & N. Railroad Company Secured Large Body of Land.

The L. & N. has secured a valuable tract of land containing about 70,000 acres, near Athens, Ala., and will colonize a large number of Dunkards thereon. They are to come from Pennsylvania, and are all farmers, well off financially.

Charles Rector, a traveling salesman for a St. Louis Saddlehouse, and who is well known here, took a morphine at Nevada, Mo., dying in a few hours. No cause was given for the act of self destruction.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

A series of meetings will begin in the Cumberland Presbyterian church on Wednesday, 12th, at 7:30 p.m., conducted by the pastor who will be assisted for ten days from Friday next by Rev. B. T. Watson State Evangelist of Kentucky Synod. Cordial invitation extended to all to be present.

An occasional dose of Prozor's Ann Bitter keeps the system healthy, aids of disease, and maintains strength and energy. For sale by C. W. Wylie.

Miss Madge Fairleigh gave a "Bicycle Party" Friday afternoon. A list of questions relating to bicycles was prepared and Miss Belle Moore was awarded a prize for answering all of them correctly.

GEN. HARDIN

Addresses a Large Crowd Saturday Afternoon.

Gave Capt. Stone a Turning Over—Silent on Election Law.

Gen. P. W. Hardin spoke to an audience that filled all of the seats in the court house Saturday. Many ladies were present inside the bar. He was cheered when he entered and there was applause when Capt. C. D. Bell introduced him to the audience.

His speech was upon the same lines as his Shelbyville speech, though he was even more severe on Capt. Stone's record. He read from the Congressional Record Stone's vote on the Springer gold bond bill, showing that Stone did not vote for it, and also from other parts of the Record that he voted with the Cleveland administration members and against Bryan and the silver men on various occasions.

He charged that it was notorious in 1894 and 1895 that Stone was in full sympathy with Cleveland and Carlisle on the silver question. He said Stone was the only man on the American continent who ever declared that he voted to bring a bill to its final passage in order to kill it.

The severity of his exhortation of Stone produced a sensation. He declared his opposition to any endorsement of the McChord bill, the Chin bill or the election bill, saying he was opposed to plastering over the Chicago platform with special state issues.

Referring to the election bill he again said it would be his duty, under his oath of office, if elected governor, to uphold all laws on the statute books until repealed. He didn't say whether he would favor or oppose the repeal of the election bill, but said the people had the right to change any law and that the election law would be sustained until the people sent a majority to the legislature in favor of changing it.

Gen. Hardin spoke an hour and eighteen minutes and nearly an hour of the time was taken up in answering the attacks made upon his record by his opponents.

He spoke to an approving crowd and the effect of the speech was to strengthen his following in this county, at the expense of Capt. Stone.

Gen. Hardin spent Sunday in the city and left in the afternoon for the First District. He is evidently after Capt. Stone and is going to "carry the war into Africa." He spoke at Marion yesterday and will visit other counties in the district.

FISCAL COURT.

Seven New Bridges Ordered And Road Supervisors Re-elected.

The County Fiscal Court finished its business Saturday and adjourned.

The appropriations were numerous and aggregated about $25,000. A great deal of this is for road improvements and bridges.

The Champion Bridge Co., was given contracts for seven iron bridges.

Among the $35,000 in appropriations made by the fiscal court was $5,200 for the erection of seven more iron bridges, which have replaced nearly all of the wooden bridges in the county. They are located as follows:

Over Sherrill's creek on Hopkinsville and Greenville roads $285.

Over Tradewater river at Messmore's ford, $1,750.

Over Slough at Pool's mill $5.50.

Over Larkin's branch, on Butterfield road $300.

Over Sinking Fork, on Gracey and Julien road, $630.

Over Hardin's creek on Lantrip road $500.

Over McFarland creek on Lucy road $650.

Over Mill creek on Lucy road $650.

The county levy was continued at the old figures, 42 1/2 cents for all property.

Road Supervisors J. H. Durham and J. K. Major were returned to work for six months, beginning at once, operating the graders and

WE ARE PREPARED

To show you through the largest, best selected, most up-to-date, and grade considered, the lowest priced exhibit of Buggies and Carriages, to be found in this State. We have on hand

One-third of an Acre of Buggies and are fixed to do a

BUSINESS

..DRIVING

in Buggies, Carriages, Phaetons, Stanhopes, Traps, Surreys, Jumpseats, Cornings, Spring Wagons, with rubber tires and without rubber tires, from $30 TO $300.

OH YES!

We forgot to tell you about our immense stock of Harness, Whips, Foot rugs, Spreads, Aprons, Washers, Whickerackers, little things in big demand.

Another Important Fact is--

Everything mentioned above was bought at old prices before the trusts got in their work.

We will meet you in our new store with a bargain and a smile—whether he wishes to buy or not we want everybody to come and leave his track on our new floor; he will be as welcome as flowers in may.

Yours Respectfully,

FORBES & BROTHER.

other road machinery.

The accounts allowed will be paid out of the 1898 taxes and the money will be available in about a month.

QUARTERLY COURT.

Nothing Done on Account of Judge Petree's Funeral.

Quarterly Court met yesterday, but adjourned on account of Judge Petree's funeral, and no business was transacted. Judge Cansler's office was also closed from 10 o'clock till 1 o'clock, out of respect to the dead jurist.

Henry Koehler & Company,

Lumber Dealers of Louisville, Ky., invite correspondence with Mill men who have lumber for sale. They buy Poplar and Hardwoods in mixed cars, dry or green. Write them.

FIVE NEW MEMBERS.

Dr. McGlaulin closed his meeting at the Universalist church Sunday night. There were five additions to the church.

At Cost.

Graves & Condy's entire stock on sale at cost. Bargains offered.

Representatives of the various local tobacco warehouses attended Trigg county court yesterday.

THOROUGHBRED SILVER-LACED WYANDOTTES.

Now is the time to introduce new blood in your herds. Eggs for $1.50 per dozen. A few cockerels at $1.50.

J. B. FISHER, Box 71, W. 18th St., Hopkinsville, Ky.

Thompson & Bassett.

Surprised by the great difference in the price of the same Monument and you always find our price from 15 per cent. to 30 per cent. lower than other shops, and then we use only the best Marbles and Granites. It will pay you well to see us before you place an order. YOUR ORDER IS SOLICITED.

ROBT. H. BROWN,
7th and Virginia Streets, Hopkinsville,
Leave us a call.